WHITE LADY
FUNERALS
a woman's understanding

Funeral services are formal gatherings, often presided over by a member of a church or a celebrant. They can be traditional or modern, religious, spiritual or a celebration of a life with all the contemporary touches you may like to include.

One can often underestimate the importance of a funeral service.

Funerals also play a very important role in helping us to cope with our grief. They are for the living providing us with an opportunity to say our goodbyes, to be with people to give and receive support and to reflect and share the memories of the life of someone we have lost that mattered to us.
